3. Connections: Body Systems, Political Systems

If connective tissue teaches us anything, it’s that everything is connected! The tissues and systems of the body are connected to one another. And our bodies are connected to a wide variety of systems of structures outside of our being. What are some of the connections to other systems? In this section we will start with an overview of the connections between body systems and then move to a study of how systems are connected by using the life experiences of people with connective tissue variations.

Created 2026-11-16 00:06:32 UTC by Ramanda
Updated 2026-11-16 00:07:23 UTC by Ramanda